

On-Farm Produce Safety Workshop For FSMA Compliance

McKinney, Texas | Sept. 24, 2017

HEARD MUSEUM
Science Resource Center

Presented by

Farm and Ranch Freedom Alliance
&
Council for Healthy Food Systems

Sunday
9:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

$15

In conjunction with the 11th annual

FARM and FOOD
2017 Leadership Conference

This pre-conference workshop, on Sunday, Sept. 24, is designed to help produce farmers prepare for implementation of new rules under the Food Safety Modernization Act. Even if your farm is exempt, being able to tell customers your farm complies with the latest safety rules is a good marketing strategy.

Then join other farmers, food activists, ranchers, homesteaders, and artisan food producers over the next two days for the full conference in Historic Downtown McKinney, TX. Learn about the forces shaping our food systems and about what we can do to promote local farms & food!

FEATURING ...

A keynote by international leader in sustainable ag FRED KIRSCHENMANN & a farm-to-table dinner presented by Harvest Chef ANDREA SHACKELFORD.

PLUS nationally-acclaimed speakers on topics such as:

- Protecting seed diversity
- Transitioning a food business from conventional to sustainable.
- Bringing back our pollinator populations.
- Updates on federal and state issues.
- Opportunities for young and military veteran farmers.
- Water & its impact on agriculture.
- Advocacy and grassroots organizing skills.
- Food access: Getting good food to more people.
- The Chef/Farmer connection.
- The outlook for local breweries & distilleries.

Register for workshops or the full conference at www.FarmAndRanchFreedom.org.

Farm and Ranch Freedom Alliance & Council for Healthy Food Systems
P.O. Box 809, Cameron, TX 76520

